PENN SQUAD HOME; SCRIMMAGE TODAY

Players in Great Shape, Says Captain Wray, on Return From Cape May

HEISMAN IS PLEASED

"The boys are in great shape, ready for the campaign which starts this afternoon at 3 o'clock with the first scrimmage of the year." Rex Wray, captain of the University of Pennsylvania football team, introduced his 1921 football team to the press this morning on the arrival of the Red and Blue from Cape May.

Two weeks of practice at the seashore resort gave the candidates the right edge for a grueling season, if the players themselves are to be believed. Braced from the sun, strong of muscle from their vigorous training, the squad bears evidence of being in the pink of condition.

Lawson Robertson, coach of the track team, who also is acting in the capacity of trainer for the gridiron warriors, had the following to say: "With the exception of one or two of the men who are suffering from charley horse and bruises, the entire squad is in perfect condition. The two weeks at the shore did them a world of good. They should be able to go through a stiff scrimmage drill this afternoon without suffering any injuries usually resulting from the early season work-outs."

Robertson, Bell, Ziegler and in fact every one connected with the team agreed with Robertson. Coach Ziegler, who is in charge of the morning planning of his campaign, but his smile and geniality showed that he was pleased with the condition of the men. The squad was met at the training house by Bill Gray, the end of last year. The big Massachusetts lad has been touring the West all summer and had an accident that nearly cost him his life. He is ready to jump in at the start with the Red and Blue team, being in excellent condition.

Shortly after the arrival of the squad at Franklin Field they were ordered to report to Dr. Buck Watson, last year's line coach, for a physical examination. "They are certainly in great shape," said Dr. Wharton as he looked over a quartet of the backs. "I don't see anything to be anything the matter with this crowd."

Lukas in Varsity Backfield This afternoon the scrimmage drill is scheduled for 3 o'clock, and it is the intention of the coaches to try out the entire varsity squad. Lukas, who backfield at the start will be Rex Wray, quarterback; Lukas and Miller at the halves, and Mike Whitehill at fullback. Erresvagn and Greenwalt at the ends. The line will consist of the following: Tackle, Cochrane and Sutherland at guards, complete the line.

Tom McNamara's scrub team, with Bill Hollenback as the main attraction, will start action this afternoon, and if Bill and McNamara are to be believed, the varsity is in for a most trying training. The scrubs have been training for the meeting with the varsity in the hope that Heisman, the varsity coach, may collect a few of them for his Red and Blue jersey squad. This morning the scrubs moved forth from the dressing room over to where the baseball team usually holds forth. The moving did not make them feel any too good, and they are out to hand the varsity a reverse and send some of the Red and Blue wingers to the other dressing room.

GIANTS VIRTUALLY CLINCH THE FLAG

Win for McGraw Today Will Make Pirates' Task an Almost Hopeless One

Looks like the Giants and either the Yankees or Cleveland for the World's Series. The standings this morning in the National League record a four-and-a-half-game lead for the Giants over the Pirates, considered sufficient by the most skeptical fans to win the grand old flag.

In the American League the Yankees moved back into first place and now have two points advantage over the world's champion Cleveland Indians. The Yankees beat the Tigers at the Polo Grounds while Walter Johnson shattered the eight-game winning streak of the Indians in Washington. The Yankees have a chance to increase their lead this afternoon as they are scheduled to meet the Tigers again while the Indians will take a day off.

This afternoon the final game of the series between the Bucks and the team went to the Yankees. The two victors for the men of the Sucky City will reduce the lead to three and a half games, but even that is large enough to win the pennant. The Yankees way the two teams have been playing the last three weeks.

KILBANE'S CROWN SAFE, SAYS 'BARON'

None of Present Featherweights Can Whip Veteran, According to Dougherty

DIDN'T SEE ANY FOULS

By LOUIS H. JAFFE

That Johnny Kilbane, who is serving his tenth year as world's featherweight champion, has nothing to fret him among present-day mittmen in his division is the firm belief of Jimmy Dougherty, known far and wide as the Baron of Leipsville. The well-known Baron has returned from the scene of Saturday afternoon battle in which the thirty-two-year-old veteran knocked out Cleveland Frush in the seventh round at Camden, and Dougherty is greatly enthused over the contest as well as the form shown by Kilbane.

"It was the best championship fight I ever saw," said Dougherty today. Frush was knocked down five times during the contest, but all times did he prove that he was game to the core. Johnny was in the greatest shape in which I have ever seen him enter a ring. And Kilbane took a lot of punishment before he readied up Frush for the final blow.

"Frush connected with a number of hard straight lefts and hooks, and Kilbane's face showed marks of these blows. I never saw Kilbane stand up and swap punches with an opponent like he did against Frush. It was a battle between a straight left and a right cross and the latter won. Kilbane has nothing to fear from the featherweights of today if he enters the ring trained as he was on Saturday.

Speaking of the alleged fouling by Frush and Kilbane, Dougherty said, "I did not see either man hit or kick low. Kilbane was the first to complain and a few seconds later Frush fell to the floor apparently in excruciating pain. They were looked in clinches each time the fouling was supposed to have been committed. Referee Kelly used good judgment in disregarding both complaints. He saw the fans and his decision resulted in a great battle instead of a fiasco."

Patsy Gorham and Frank Daly, Aramingo Terrace fans, who also were present, considered the fight today like Dougherty, both Gorham and Daly say it was a scintillating scrap. "Kilbane through? I should say not," exclaimed Gorham. "Johnny was in the line of the featherweight contenders and took 'em in the same ring."

A boxing show for the benefit of American Legion posts and veterans of "Foreign Wars" at Montgomery County has been arranged by Dougherty at the Chester Ball Park next Thursday night. Several other benefit programs have been staged successfully in Chester by the Baron. On Thursday night Jack Harbo, of Wilmington, will meet Eddie Stone Miller in the star bout. Other matches will be: Tommy Murray vs. Kid Sun, Johnny Rowe vs. Mike Morris, Johnny Griffith vs. Battling Powell and Philadelphia Joe Welling vs. Bobby Barrett.

Season Is On The 1921 season in Philadelphia was opened officially on Saturday night at the National A. A. Ned Carpenter, a big bumbo from Racine, Wis., and supposed to be from Australia, was knocked out by Bill Brennan, of Chicago, in thirty-nine seconds of the first round. The new promoters, Joe Wenke and Al Jannetti, were prepared for an emergency like that and they played a fair-sized crowd by putting on an extra bout. Eddie Dempsey returned a winner over Lew Minsky in the special contest.

Official announcement has been made by Leon L. Rains of the opening of the Olympia A. A. next Monday night. The Olympia will be the boxing palace of the world, says Rains. A bout between Joe Tiptitz and Joe Benjamin will be the wind-up, with Billy Angelo opposed to Johnny Drumme, of Jersey City, in another feature. Franchises, three other bouts are arranged.

Boxing at the Ice Palace this season will be held twice a month, according to George E. Pawling. The initial show has been announced for September 28. A bout between Jeff Smith and Harry Greb will be the headline. Other matches are: Al Walker vs. Terry McHugh, Joe Miller vs. Young Joe Borrell, Battling Murray vs. Charley Ray and Al Pacitti vs. Joe Morris.

The Tigers have Laurie, Garrity and Gilroy from last year's eleven to play in the backfield. A sweet trio they are, but the other backs necessary are missing. Who is going to drop-kick? Murray flunked out. Who is going to punt? Scheerer graduated.

There is a special Trimble has to form the finished product is made up of MacPhee and Cleaves, substitutes of last year; Smith, Emory and Van

TIGERS HAVE 9 VETS BUT NO SUBSTITUTES

Roper and Assistants Must Develop Football Team From Remaining Members of 1920 Eleven and Raw Material—Hard Schedule Ahead

By JACK STRUBING

Former Quarterback of the Princeton University Eleven, the Princeton Tiger has a real fight on his hands. The bed of roses that was stretched in the path of the Jersey athletes last season has been supplanted by a rocky road. The famed Orange and Black squad of 1920 has been so depleted by the professors, who graciously presented diplomas with one hand and welded pencils of blue crayon with the other, this team now resembles the remains of Lord Byron's "Noble Six Hundred."

Glimpsing the football situation at Princeton through the lenses of today, the Tigers have an exceedingly tough schedule, an excellent staff of coaches and nine veterans. That's all. There are no substitutes of variety ranking to step into the vacant corners. A whole new squad must be built around these nine old-timers.

It takes more than eleven men to make a football team. It is often quoted that any team is as strong as the substitutes. This team that Coach Bill Roper must scout through Old Nassau and dig up the men to carry the banner of the Tiger against Colgate, Navy, Chicago, Harvard and Yale.

Good Coaching Staff There are a lot of coaches this fall who would be pleased and elated if they had as many as nine veterans back from last season. Jack Heisman, of Penn, is one of them, but Roper, aside from his nine 1920 players, has virtually no one of consequence from the secondary squad. All of which makes it particularly difficult.

Roper has an excellent group of assistants surrounding him. Jack Winn, who played the wing position in 1916, is handling the ends again this year. Last year he developed Legends, and this year he is developing the future. He is developing the future. He is developing the future. He is developing the future. He is developing the future.

HUNTER FIRST OFF IN NATIONAL GOLF

Sixty-four Players Start Qualifying Round for Amateur Title at St. Louis

MANY STARS SEEK CROWN

St. Louis, Sept. 19.—Sixty-four of the best amateur golfers of the world today are in the St. Louis Country Club in play at the national amateur championship title now held by Chick Evans for the second time.

The procession of club winners was led by no less a golfer than Willie Hunter, British champion, accompanied by H. R. Johnston, of St. Paul, the Minnesota State champion, who has scored 70 with frequency this season by virtue of his long drives.

This pair, getting away at 9 o'clock for the first round, made it necessary for them to start on the second circuit at 12:45 P. M., only an hour after the last pair started their first trip around the 6351-yard course. The tailenders starting at 3:30 on the second circuit were scheduled to finish a medal play after 6 o'clock this evening.

Scattered through the string of players were such prominent golfers as Bobby Jones, of Atlanta, runner-up two years ago, who scored 70 on Friday, playing with H. Chandler Egan, Portland, twice a champion; R. E. Keen, per, Sioux City, Ia., champion and runner-up to Evans in the Western amateur championship; Francis Ouimet, Boston, former national open and amateur champion; Jesse Guilford, the long driver from Massachusetts, and Bob Gardner, who not only won the national title twice, but carried Cyril Tooley to thirty-seven holes for the British title last year.

The favorites for the title among those who watched the preliminary play are Jones and Evans, although Ouimet and Keen have a strong following and several others in the contest have a goodly following.

The foreign invaders, reduced to two by the elimination round on Saturday, were not feared by experts, as Hunter and T. D. Armour both have been erratic. More rain fell last night, making the greens more sure of the grip on the ball and preventing slipperiness to the drives on the sloping fairways with which the course is beset.

Kilbane Breaks Contract; Barred in Cleveland Ring

Cleveland, Sept. 19.—Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion, broke his contract with the local Boxing Commission when he refused to consent to Richard Guy, of Pittsburgh, and Sam Hall, of Chicago, to act as judges for his bout with Danny Frush Saturday. As a result Kilbane will not be permitted to box in Cleveland again, according to J. B. Wilberding, chairman of the Cleveland Boxing Commission. When the champion signed articles for the bout it was agreed that the commission should name referees and judges. Kilbane first objected to Harry Erle and then to Ed Smith, finally accepting Walter C. Kelly. He objected to Guy and Hall at the eleventh hour, and two local men had to be substituted. "No boxer is so big that he can refuse to obey rules of the Boxing Commission," said the chairman.

HAVRE DE GRACE READY FOR BUGLE

Autumn Racing Opens Wednesday With $10,000 Eastern Shore Handicap

The bugle will sound Wednesday afternoon for the opening of autumn racing at Havre de Grace, the "Philadelphia track." The Harford Agricultural and Breeders' Association has provided for the opening day the Eastern Shore handicap, with $10,000 added for the two-year-olds. Bunting, the leading colt in the East, with Morrish and Kai Sang and other good ones, will contest for that stake.

There will be three $10,000 stakes decided at the ten-day meeting, and the public is assured that there will be two three-horse affairs, to which it has become accustomed in New York. Keen competition will be certain to result from the equally balanced fields, and the sport will be in other ways inviting. There are 800 horses already at the beautiful Susquehanna course with more on the way.

H. C. Bedwell has filed his colors as an owner with the Maryland Racing Commission, and has indicated that he will press for recognition of his license as a trainer at the opening of the Havre de Grace meeting. It also is probable that Shilling will be given a mount and put up to the commission. Whether his jockey license shall be recognized, The Bedwell case reverts to the status it had in the spring. The indications are that there will be little friction over the matter as the Maryland racing authorities have about decided to run their own affairs, regardless of the interference of the New York Jockey Club, which aspires to rule off all the tracks in the East except in New York State, where the bookmakers have racing sewed up.

The Latonia championship was won by Sporting Blood, the good three-year-old for which H. C. Fisher paid $40,000 recently. The son of Fair Play toyed with Black Servant in the mile and three-quarters route in the mud. The poor showing of Grey Lag was a surprise, as he was an odds on choice. Sporting Blood was well ridden by Frank Keogh. At the judges' wire Harry Servant was two lengths back, while Humfrey, an outsider, nosed out Grey Lag for the third money. The net amount to the winner was $23,635, with $3000 to the second, $2000 to the third and $1000 to the fourth horse. Besides Sporting Blood, Fair Play, sire of Man O' War, furnished another winner at Latonia Saturday in Fair Orient.

At Aqueduct: First race—Lady Baltimore, Santa Clara, Bayonne; second—Copper Demon, Tody, Frigate; third—Lucky Girl, Douglass; fourth—Surf Rider, Sweeney, Brooker; fifth—Smarty, Arnanhoe, Salute; sixth—Ten Lee, Arrow of Gold, Enfield.

At Ottawa: First race—China, Fernum, Nellie Lemon; second—War Tax, Tuleen, Golden Chance; third—Tom Goose, Ballynue, Gallon Berry; fourth—Plain Bill, Tarascon, Propaganda; fifth—Optimism, Landless, Lady Greaves; sixth—Mortetto, Alcatraz, Captain Dodge; seventh—Blarney Boy, Paula V., Buckhorn II.
